Important information

As a New York State-chartered bank, Deutsche Bank Trust Company Americas is required by law, under penalty of sanctions, to ensure that securities held by it as a custodian are segregated on its books and records from the Bank's own assets. In addition, internal control procedures are in place to prevent clients' securities from being commingled with the Bank's own assets. As an additional safeguard, the information systems that record and account for clients' custodied securities are independent from the systems within the Bank which track and control the Bank's proprietary assets. These segregation requirements required by law are intended to protect securities of custody clients against claims of creditors of a bank. In the event that there are cash deposits in a client's custody account, i.e. a money market deposit account, and such deposits are held within the Bank, then those deposits would be entitled to deposit insurance provided by the FDIC, subject to the limitations provided by federal law.

The past performance of securities or other instruments does not necessarily indicate or predict future performance. Since the value of investments and income arising therefrom can fall as well as rise, the investor may get back less than was invested and no assurance can be given that any portfolio or investment described herein would yield favorable investment results. Any products mentioned herein are not FDIC insured and are not obligations of nor guaranteed by Deutsche Bank AG or its affiliates unless otherwise specified.
